

HOME

Our Ingeny Home service provides advanced multi-room automation and entertainment solutions. This means we can effectively integrate different technology based on your own personal taste and entertainment, communications, comfort and security preferences throughout your home. By providing complete control at the tap of a touchscreen, smartphone or tablet, we ensure complementary systems work seamlessly together to enhance your home living and private space.

- Full design services using AutoCAD and 3D modelling software
- Intuitive system control
- Integrated cabling
- Managed networks

smart building control

Zoned temperature control ensures that your home is heated and cooled as required, while scened lighting can be created for any mood. Automated blinds and curtains can also add style, convenience, and security, gracefully opening and closing on command or as part of a programmed schedule.

Additionally, for enhanced security the system can be set to "away" mode so that when activated the lighting and blinds systems simulate occupancy based on previous activity. At the same time, the heating is reduced to a minimum setting until you return.

- Home cinema
- HD TV distribution
- Hi-Fi and multi-room audio
- Lighting and heating control

multi-room entertainment

Ingeny Home provides sophisticated home entertainment solutions, so that high quality audio and video content is available anywhere, at any time. This means television, films, music and games can be enjoyed from any room in the home with ease using a central distribution system that brings together and distributes multiple local and online sources such as media servers, Netflix, Sky HD, Spotify, Napster, PlayStation Plus, Xbox Live and other on demand services.

Ingeny can also develop custom-designed home cinema rooms for the best possible viewing experience. Whether this is a dedicated home theatre or hidden cinema system fitted in the living room, Ingeny creates tailored solutions, using the latest audio visual technologies, to deliver the best home cinema experience.

extensive expertise

Whether you are renovating, refurbishing or building a home, we can help create an automation system that works for you. Ingeny is best-placed to understand your precise home automation needs, so we can develop complete and integrated solutions from design and consultation through to installation and ongoing support. Also, as an accredited member of CEDIA, we adhere to the latest industry standards and requirements to ensure the highest levels of quality, service and reliability.